EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

#OpIsrael is an organized set of attacks aimed at Israeli Web sites, which was officially first launched on 14 November, 2012 against the Israeli government, public institutions and other high profile Web sites.

The goal of the attackers was to launch massive set of cyber-attacks against Israeli cyber space. Their main intent was to advertise opposition to Israel's actions in Gaza.

The organized attacks were planned by several Muslim hacktivist groups such as "Parastoo" (Iran), "AnonGhost" (Tunisia), and "Red Hack" (Turkey).

Those groups are planning another scheduled #OpIsrael set of attacks for April 7, 2014.

There is very little solid information about the expected and specific attacks. The prediction is that the attacks will not be significant and will be different from last year. However, best practice does require organizations be ready for any possibility.

This document recommends how to reduce the vulnerabilities for sites at risk.

POTENTIAL ATTACKS

The scheduled attacks will probably contain various attacks to several vectors. We assume that the major attacks types will be one or more of the following:

- DoS/DDoS – Distributed denial of service.

This is a massive attack whereby the target (usually a server) is no longer able to accept legitimate client requests, thereby "denying" service to their clients.

There are various types of attacks using various protocols, such as HTTP, DNS, NTP, and TCP.

- SQL injection – This is a method of exploiting a security breach in a database-based computer program.
- Phishing – This is an attempt to steal private information such as a credit card number, username, or password, by masquerading at legitimate Web sites (or copies of the original Web site) such as banks or shopping sites.

Some of the attack vectors can contain different attacks by multiple tools. Each tool can have a different impact based on the type of attack.

The following table lists the attack tools that were used in last year's attack. Some of these tools were mentioned this year by the attackers and there is very large possibility they will be used again.

Attack Tool	Attack Vectors	DefensePro Mitigation
ByteDos	ICMP Flood SYN Flood	Behavioral DoS protection SYN Protection
Mobile LOIC	HTTP Floods	Signature protection
LOIC	HTTP Floods UDP Flood TCP Flood	HTTP Authentication Behavioral DoS protection Signature protection
Tor's Hammer	HTTP Post Flood Using TOR Network	HTTP Authentication
SlowLoris	Slow HTTP Attack	Signature protection
PyLoris	Slow HTTP POST Attack	Signature protection
THC SSL DOS	SSL Renegotiation Flood	Signature protection
Snake Bite	HTTP Floods UDP Flood TCP Flood	HTTP Authentication Behavioral DoS protection
Other intrusions	Other unknown	Signature protection WAF

RECOMMEDATIONS TO CUSTOMERS

Radware recommends that you do the following in preparation for these attacks:

DefensePro recommendations:

1. Activate all security policies.
  - Ensure that your network protection policies are defined properly (according to deployment guidelines).
2. Monitor security alerts.
  - Examine alerts and triggers carefully. Tune existing polices to prevent false positives, and allow for identifying real threats if and when they occur.
  - If there is a suspicion of attack, take a packet capture from the device.
3. Update your Signatures file.
  - It is very important to update Signatures file for maximum mitigation.
4. In case of a suspected attack or if you have service outage, call Radware Technical Support at (03-766-8686), and ask for immediate ERT invocation.

AppWall recommendations:

1. Monitor security alerts issued by AppWall
2. Make sure your Signature and GeoIP (if you're using GeoIP) definition files are up-to-date.
3. If possible, switch passive security filters to active mode.
4. Consider preparing GeoIP restriction rule in advance as a second line of defense. You can find instructions for this here: <http://kb.radware.com/questions/3099/>
